Union Medical Healthcare exclusively introduces “Intelligent Health Assessment Set” into Tencent Doctorwork, Hong Kong’s first intelligent clinic

(31 May 2019, Hong Kong) Union Medical Healthcare Limited (“Union Medical Healthcare” or the “Company”, which together with its subsidiaries, is referred to as the “Group”, SEHK stock code: 2138), a leading integrated medical group in Hong Kong, exclusively introduces the “Intelligent Health Assessment Set” into Tencent Doctorwork clinic in Hong Kong for the first time. The move makes the intelligent clinic the first of its kind in the city.

A digitized healthcare service company, Tencent Doctorwork operates brick-and-mortar clinics and provides online medical care on the internet. It also develops various smart devices for medical care with cutting-edge technologies. To meet the needs of Hong Kong’s healthcare market, Union Medical Healthcare introduces appropriate technologies into Tencent Doctorwork primary care clinics. At Tencent Doctorwork’s primary care clinic in Tuen Mun, patients can now first enter the details of the symptoms of their diseases into the “Intelligent Triage Machine”, which is part of the “Intelligent Health Assessment Set”. The machine will then carry out initial evaluation and provide other relevant medical information based on the input from the patients. It will then send the preliminary findings to doctors on duty and also guide the patients to them. Since the doctors have already grasped the patients’ symptoms beforehand, they have more time to examine the patients in order to gain a better understanding of the latter’s condition and then formulate suitable treatment plans.

In addition, “Magic Mirror for Health Assessment”, which is another device in the “Intelligent Health Assessment Set”, can quickly evaluate health through 15 indicators, including blood oxygen level, heart rate as shown on electrocardiogram, basal metabolic rate, the amount of visceral fat and bone mass, etc. The entire process only takes approximately one minute. The patients stand in front of the health measurement device and then touch it with both hands. It scans their bodies and then sends them the findings. The device helps its users monitor the changes in their health condition to promote the concept of “prevention is better than cure”, thus enables them to get diagnoses and treatments promptly once it detects any abnormalities.

Dr. Julie Chow, Medical General Manager of Union Medical Healthcare, said, “In the light of the increase in the prevalence of chronic and complex diseases, the Group has invested a large amount of resources in the development of specialist medical services in recent years. The Group’s medical specialist services include high-end imaging centers, orthopedics, neurosurgery, cardiothoracic surgery, urology, oncology, otorhinolaryngology and endoscopy, etc. Meanwhile, the Group has been developing the business of preventive medicine so as to help its customers detect diseases or any other abnormalities early and to get prompt treatments. The newly introduced cutting-edge devices of the “Intelligent Health Assessment Set” adopt big data for medicine and artificial intelligence software and thus can monitor changes in patients’ condition effectively and make the consultation more accurate. Union Medical Healthcare will continue to take a patient-oriented approach to the development of high-end medical services. In the future, the Group will open specialty clinics and actively develop preventive and precision medicine to provide customers with more efficient, quality medical services.”
